

'Land of the Free... Home of the Brave'

Editors note: Valerie Gustaveson is the first place winner in the Torrance Junior Women's Club Americanism contest which took place last week. She is an eighth grade student at Hickory School. The essay, reproduced here in its entirety, is a healthy example of one young American's thoughts and attitudes toward our country.

"America to me is a beautiful land. It's geographical features stretch from the Atlantic Ocean on the east side, to the peaceful Pacific Ocean on the West. If you included Alaska, America's borders

VALERIE GUSTAVESON
... Winning Essay

would reach to the Arctic Ocean on the North. In the interior of this county lies five large navigable lakes, Heron, Ontario, Erie, Superior, and Michigan. The great Mississippi and Missouri Rivers flow through lush green valleys and past thriving towns and cities. The Rocky Mountains of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico pierce the very skys with their snow laden peaks. Yet, in California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Nevada are burning, torrid deserts and wastelands to add variety to the scenery. In the Hawaiian Islands tropical breezes blow and fierce volcanoes erupt. American, in itself is a breath-taking place. Such contrast in one country is difficult to find, yet we find it in this land of freedom.

The writings and poems of this land are many. Famous poets and authors such as Mark Twain, Edgar Allen Poe, Francis Scott Key, Waldo Emerson, Carl Sandberg, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow have contributed to American literature and have made America recognized as a nation of fine arts and talents.

When this country was young, like a small boy, it ran away from its mother, England. It had desired independence. At first, it was unsure of itself but with the statesmanship of great men such as Jefferson, Monroe, Hamilton, and Washington—documents were drawn up and signed—providing the executive, the judicial, and the legislative branches of our government and emphasized the individual rather than the state, thus, an individual's rights were guaranteed under this policy. Our country grew strong.

During this time our country was also expanding. Farsighted industrialists used our natural resources in building our country's economy. Railroads were built which opened vast territories and frontiers to the west—gold was found—new states founded—these gave the people opportunities untold.

This beautiful country, a land of freedom and divine ideals—where one is free from oppression of dictators who try to rule your will, heart, and soul. In America you are free! Your heart is filled with joy when you live in this land of brotherhood.

What more can you say for this country, America, than the following inscription which appears on the Statue of Liberty. "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free. The wretched refuse of your teeming shores. Send these the homeless tempest tossed to me; I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

Yes, men have died for this country, the place where all men are spiritually equal. They paid for it with their lives to give it to us, so that this country would thrive and grow. So that it would set an example for the world, especially the ecountries yearning for freedom.

The people are the most outstanding feature of this country. People of many nationalities and creeds work together making America a strong union. The ideas and ideals of these people who are from all over the world combine to make America a country of perfection.

This, then, is our American Heritage. This is all encompassed in my feeling of what America means to me."

Hickory School PTA Welcomes Vice-Principal

Hickory Elementary PTA announces their pleasure in welcoming the new vice-principal, Mr. D. R. Coogan. Formerly vice-principal at Seaside Elementary School, Coogan also was an instructor at Riviera Elementary.

The new principal was born in Los Angeles. After ten years of professional baseball, he completed his studies at Long Beach State College, where he received his Master's Degree. For the past two years he has been doing graduate work at USC. Coogan is married and is the father of three girls, ages eight, six and four.

NEW CONCEPTION

Hickory Elementary is a new school with a completely modern conception in schoolroom design. There are two main buildings, each consisting of five rooms arranged around an inner resource room. Every room has its own outside entrance, thus eliminating corridors. Wall panels, held in place by air pressure, are easily adjustable to change the size and shape of the room as desired. There are excellent playground facilities and equipment and a fine cafeteria, according to the school's PTA.

DINNER

There will be a salisbury steak dinner in the school cafeteria on Thursday, March 8. It will be held from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m.

On Saturday, March 24, "Eversole, the Magician," will put on a 2 p.m. show for youngsters of all ages.

With great pleasure and pride, Hickory School announces the success of Valerie Gustaveson, eighth grade student who won first place in the Junior Woman's Club Americanism Essay Contest. Valerie competed against almost two thousand Torrance eighth graders.

PLAYGROUND

According to the PTA, Hickory School playground is open every Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Children are urged to take advantage of the services being offered to them by the Torrance Recreational Department. Recreational leader is Mr. Charles Faneuff.

Candidates Are Presented at Regular Meeting

Presentation of a slate of candidates for office will be first order of business when Hollypark B'nai B'rith Women holds its next regular meeting tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. Arthur D. Vanetek of Torrance.

Starting at 8:30 p.m. the meeting will also hear reports from Mrs. Beryl Averbook, chairman of the chapter's installation dinner-dance April 14, and Mrs. Herbert Schwartz, in charge of the group's forthcoming ad book.

Recently, in conjunction with Harbor Council B'nai B'rith Women, Hollypark chapter sponsored a brotherhood and race relations program for grade school children, providing an opportunity for children of different racial, national and ethnic backgrounds to find common meeting grounds. Mrs. Stanley Mittelman of Torrance reports that the program, combining films and discussion groups, was warmly received and proved highly successful.

St. Catherine Laboure Group Present 'Mad Hatter' Event

Members of St. Catherine Laboure Women's Council are putting on a "Mad Hatter Luncheon" and card party Friday, March 9, in the parish hall at 3846 Redondo Beach Blvd. in Torrance. Luncheon will be served from noon until 1 p.m.

A $25 hat and $8 hat will be given away during the afternoon.

Mrs. Vincent Tremblay, ways and means chairman, extends a cordial invitation to the public to come and enjoy the luncheon and to pick out a new spring hat for the Easter Parade.

MEADOW PARK

The Meadow Park PTA observed Founders Day with a skit entitled "Memory Lane." PTA through the years since its founding was traced by Mrs. Walter Marshall through the pages of a live album of parents' appropriately costumed. The "Honorary Life Membership" was awarded this year to Mr. James M. Rea for his work with the Youth of his church and his service to the community.

Gateway Council Meets Tomorrow, Has Safety Film

The March meeting of Gateway Council PTA will be held tomorrow at Stephen M. White Junior High School at 10 a.m. According to Mrs. George Weeks, program chairman, the program will feature a safety film entitled "That They May Live." This film demonstrates methods of mouth to mouth resuscitation.

The Inspirational Message will be given by the mixed Glee Club of members of Stephen White Junior High School under the direction of Mr. Richard Schraier.

ELECTION

Election of officers for the ensuing year takes place at this meeting and the election will be conducted by Mrs. Horace H. Breese, films chairman of Los Angeles tenth district.

Committees featured will be Mrs. C. L. Wilson, safety, and Mrs. Joe Stafford, Civil Defense. There will be a display of safety posters made by members and students of the local associations in Gateway Council.

Mrs. John Blackmon, president will have charge of the meeting which will be followed by a luncheon at the school.

Santa Claus is Life Member of Halldale PTA

Santa Claus was one of two persons honored with Life Memberships at a recent Board Meeting of the Halldale PTA held in the school auditorium. Donald Hartman, who for the past 5 years has played Santa Claus for the PTA and many other organizations, was presented with the honor along with Mrs. Edmond Alves for her outstanding work with young people.
